2:17 PM Good point Jessica

2:17 PM Sorry if this was answered earlier but will the slides be made available or are they linked anywhere?

2:17 PM Thank you!

2:18 PM new Billy the Kid series

2:18 PM Oops aren't dead

2:19 PM 🙄

2:19 PM We have requests for Westerns and even do ILL's to get them for some of our patrons.

2:20 PM One of my favorites is True Grit by Charles Portis

2:20 PM Hey gabby! Monica, Hollie, and garrett

2:20 PM I like Laura Anne Gilman's Devil's West series, starting with Silver on the Road. Western with a bit of fantasy.

2:21 PM LOVE, LOVE, LOVE Lonesome Dove

2:21 PM Lonesome Dove is one of my all-time favorites!

2:22 PM Big influence by writings by Teddy Roosevelt and art by Frederic Remington

2:22 PM focus mainly on cowboys? etc?

2:23 PM @Anne -- do you mean this as a question for Jessica and David?

2:23 PM Sure :)

2:23 PM 👍

2:23 PM Imagine being inspired by Bass Reeves and making him white

2:23 PM Sadly Derrick Ferguson passed away not long ago

2:24 PM The Sisters Brothers was a hoot

2:24 PM (a weird hoot)

2:24 PM I agree, Monica

2:24 PM There was a movie with Tom Hanks that has a feel of a western (though he's not a cowboy, he reads the news to folks). Yes?

2:24 PM Sisters Brothers made for a fun book discussion pick.

2:25 PM ^^News of the World

2:27 PM The "Appeal Mixer" feature is one I enjoy that can speak to some of the elements you are mentioning right now.

2:27 PM "Appeal Mixer"?

2:28 PM I like Ralph Cotton

2:28 PM The "Appeal Mixer" is a great place to play around with NovelList appeal terms.

2:30 PM Would James Rollins fall into this category?

2:30 PM @Jocelyn -- we'll ask!

2:30 PM @Jocelyn, I wonder if Kate Mosse (author not model) would fit that a bit?

2:31 PM Labyrinth, etc.

2:31 PM Maybe Elizabeth Peters??

2:31 PM Matthew Reilly's Jack West would be ancient enigma adventure. 7 Deadly Wonders is the first.

2:31 PM I am here to throw <3 at David!!!!

2:31 PM Swashbuckling -- fit into nautical adventure?

2:31 PM Swashbuckling is a fantastic phrase! I enjoy having my buckles swashed

2:31 PM Captain Jack

2:32 PM oh absolutely! Labyrinth fits for sure. I saw The Lost Sisterhood/Anne Fortier from a few years ago. But doesn't seem that common

2:32 PM There's a new ezine that's just launching focused entirely on 'swashbuckling' fiction, so definitely coming back, esp combined with New Pulp movement

2:32 PM aspiring swashbuckler is somewhere on my resume

2:32 PM Haha Katie :D

2:32 PM youth books, but the Vesper Holly books by Lloyd Alexander

2:32 PM how did you find this infographic?

2:32 PM from searching reviews?

2:32 PM Ah, there's Flashy

2:33 PM Love Flashman!!

2:33 PM The Hitchhiker's Guide to the Galaxy...

2:33 PM LOVE Princess Bride!!!

2:33 PM Who would win in a fight? James Bond v. Modesty Blaise?

2:33 PM Sarah Gailey's River of Teeth! Most fun "western" ever!

2:33 PM OOH Princess Bride!!! LUV it!!

2:34 PM I LOVED Outlawed by Anna North! She's a fantastic author for an event, too!

2:34 PM I found the C Pam Zhang book very compelling

2:36 PM I love them more Kaite. 😊

2:36 PM Whickety wa wa wa

2:36 PM AMERICAN HIPPO!!!!

2:37 PM Feral hippos??

2:37 PM Hippos are actually really scary!

2:37 PM I watched outlander season 1 to see what the hype was about (it was challenged in our library) did not enjoy. anyone else not enjoy the show but like the books? how do they compare

2:37 PM Very territorial.

2:38 PM I've never met a domestic hippo

2:38 PM I heard that

2:38 PM I remember Silverado.

2:38 PM Writer of the Purple Rage by Joe R. Lansdale has one of my favorite short plays in it.

2:38 PM "I'm your huckleberry"

2:39 PM lots of new adventure movies: The Lost City, Uncharted, anything with the Rock

2:39 PM we did collect executioner and it dried up a few years back

2:39 PM Has there ever been a blend of Western & Urban Lit?

2:39 PM Hard Case Crime sometimes has books that fill that Men's Adventures hole

2:39 PM lots of LitRPG in Hoopla

2:39 PM Also recommend Dread Nation by Justina Ireland for a zombie story in the Civil War era. The series starts in the east but goes west

2:39 PM not always available in print

2:39 PM So you're saying my fanfics are valid

2:39 PM Warhammer 40K

2:39 PM I do not play games much, but I will read a game based/Lit RPG once in a while.

2:42 PM (should say... that blog post is coming....)

2:42 PM Yeah I'm LOVING this! Hoping to catch future ones :)

2:43 PM Cussler books are pretty episodic, Aleta, so you can start with 26 if you want

2:43 PM Oooh. Seven Deadly Wonders was fun too! It is bonkers. Suspend all disbelief and you will have the time of your lif

2:43 PM infectious and full of optimism. I love it.

2:43 PM Thanks, Kaleb!

2:43 PM this all makes perfect sense

2:43 PM This is lovely. I will definitely be on the lookout for that blog post with the starter pack

2:43 PM I was reminded of National Treasure with Nic Cage. Had to suspend a lotta disbelief for that, too. 😊

2:43 PM My dad, at 75, has become a reader thanks to Libby, and his current obsession is Clive Cussler. He texts me whenever he gets a new one! This is why I love Clive Cussler...

2:44 PM Yay, Laura's Dad!

2:44 PM Will there be more Crash Courses soon? Also, would Novelist consider doing more low-cost or free trainings for library and education staff? For example, I'd love to go to StockerCon on Friday, but the cost made me not be able to go. Thanks

2:44 PM What Kelsey says! :)

2:44 PM David, how do J.D. Davies compare to Patrick O'Brien

2:56 PM Be sure to use #NovelListConversations so we know it's about this webinar

2:56 PM Are disaster/survival stories considered adventure stories?

2:56 PM Re- misunderstood villains, one of Cussler's villains are a family of genetic-descendants of Hitler who have a global, so misunderstood and sympathetic villains are rare

2:57 PM This is a very fun and enjoyable session. Love the crash course always learn lots. We definitely seen an increase interest in this genre by the popular tv series: Yellowstone, 1883 and now Outer Range.

2:59 PM thanks everybody, great webinar
